

Finding new pathways to rewarding careers

Excerpt from March 17, 2016 NEWS RELEASE

Finding the right career can be challenging at the best of times. The B.C. Government's new Career Guide for Aboriginal People is designed to help make searching for the in-demand jobs just a little bit easier.

Released this month, the guide contains a wealth of information and resources for Aboriginal job seekers, especially youth. It offers a range of tips and advice such as how to make successful school-to-work transitions and on the importance of building job-finding support networks.

The guide is a toolkit that also provides sample resumes, cover letters and interview questions to help job seekers positively present their skills and qualifications. It lists awards, scholarships and bursaries available for Aboriginal learners and how to apply for them, as well as providing guidance on budgeting for education and training.

Copies of B.C.'s Career Guide for Aboriginal People will be available at WorkBC centres throughout British Columbia. It will also be available through First Nations band offices, Aboriginal Friendship Centres, Aboriginal organizations, public and Aboriginal-controlled post-secondary institutions and online.

BC's Career Guide for Aboriginal People

<https://www.workbc.ca/getmedia/0ec020d3-57d6-4ad7-931d-3bd008f252c2/BC-s-Career-Guide-for-Aboriginal-People-online.pdf.aspx>

Read the full news release here:

http://archive.news.gov.bc.ca/releases/news_releases_2013-2017/2016ARR0023-000416.pdf